

Glasgow Building Preservation Trust invite you to the launch screening of

Sing Me a New Song

Sunday 20th September 2pm for 2.30pm

At Andrew Stewart Cinema, Gilmorehill Halls, 9 University Avenue, G12 8QQ

2.45pm: a showing of Hopscotch Films' The Kelvingrove Bandstand (2014)

3.15pm: live choir performance at Kelvingrove Bandstand and Amphitheatre

Limited seats available in the cinema so RSVP bandstand@gbpt.org

Join us this Sunday to celebrate 2015's Sing Me a New Song project at Kelvingrove Bandstand and Amphitheatre, with a new short film by Basharat Khan.

Sing me a New Song saw local community choir Voicebeat take part in a songwriting project which resulted in 4 original songs inspired by the Bandstand.

The film follows the choir's journey as they work with professional musicians Robyn Stapleton, Claire Hastings & Alistair Paterson.

The screening will be followed by a live performance of the commissioned songs at the Bandstand, only a 2 minute walk from the cinema, as part of the 2015 Doors Open Day programme.

Sing Me A New Song was made possible through Heritage Lottery Fund Scotland and was delivered in partnership with Glasgow Building Preservation Trust and Glasgow Life.

